1. Purpose

1.1 The Kingdom of The Bleeding Heart prepares this assessment for the Government of Gaul as a friend. It sets out, from the data the Kingdom's Ministry of Intelligence collects across Terra Nostra, the risks Gaul currently faces, the nations that threaten it, the towns that need attention, and the steps the Ministry recommends. It draws on 32 automated collections between 10/21/2026 and 10/31/2026; latest scan 07:40 UTC.

2. Summary

2.1 The Ministry assesses Gaul's overall risk as low, with a score of 24 out of 100. The principal external threat is Carthage. Three towns need attention within the next seven days. Over the period under review its active membership has risen by 2, which the Ministry reads as broad stability.

3. Assessment of Risk

3.1 The most immediate risk to any nation on Terra Nostra is the loss of towns to inactivity: a town falls to ruin once none of its residents has logged in for 42 days, and its contents can then be taken by anyone. None of Gaul's towns will cross that threshold within seven days on current activity.

3.2 The second risk is overclaim. A town may hold land in proportion to its active residents; any surplus can be taken by a neighbouring town. Three towns already hold more land than their residents support, exposing 17 chunks. 16 more towns will reach that position within 14 days as inactive residents stop counting.

3.3 Underlying both is the nation's level of activity. 38 per cent of the members whose activity was checked have been online in the last thirty days, and 38 members were online in the last week.

4. Threat Assessment

4.1 Carthage (strength 18 of 100, 45 active members) is assessed as neutral toward Gaul with a hostility score of 12, because it is hostile to Gaul's ally Bleeding_Heart. It does not border the nation directly. Its active membership has fallen by 27 over the period. The Ministry judges that Carthage will lose towns or land over the next 7 days.

5. Holdings at Risk

5.1 The following towns hold surplus land open to overclaim: Town59 (one chunk exposed, which about one active resident would cover), Town147 (seven chunks exposed, which about one active resident would cover) and Town179 (nine chunks exposed, which about two active residents would cover).

6. Allies and Support Network

6.1 Gaul's allies, Bleeding_Heart (51 active members), command 51 active members between them. Rome also counts Carthage as an enemy and may be natural partners.

7. Outlook

7.1 The Ministry judges it likely that Gaul will continue to expand its territory to the north-west, toward Carthage. On current trends, active membership will be about 56 in seven days. Prompt action on the towns named above would materially improve this outlook.

8. Recommended Actions

8.1 The towns with surplus land should either recruit active residents to restore their claim limit or release edge chunks they do not need, which removes the opportunity for neighbours to take them.

8.2 Border towns facing Carthage should be kept active and within their claim limits, since these are the first towns an adversary would target.

8.3 A recruitment and re-engagement drive would strengthen the nation on every measure: inactive residents no longer count toward claim limits, so each returning member protects land as well as towns.

8.4 The Kingdom of The Bleeding Heart will continue to monitor Gaul's neighbours and will share warning of hostile movements as soon as they are detected.

Estimative language follows the Kingdom standard: almost certain (95% or more), highly likely (80–95%), likely (55–80%), roughly even chance (45–55%), unlikely (20–45%), highly unlikely (5–20%), remote (under 5%). Confidence reflects the depth of the archive for each subject, not the importance of the judgment.
